proposed for discussion by the Members representing the Universities should be sent up direct to Govt after being discussed in the University Council & that the total Number of Subjects so proposed should not exceed ten.

3. Vide paras 24, 34 & 46 of the Notification No. P 3039/Legis 12-23-9 Dy 8-12-23, the selection of interpellation resolutions & representations will have to be made by taking votes at a meeting to be held at the Dr Headquarters by the Dr Comrs at which the representatives of special interests & minorities shall also be present.

4 It has been informally ascertained from the Office of the Secretary Legislative Assembly that the procedure of sending subjects direct to Govt has been continued in the case of Members representing Universities & No Govt orders have been passed in the matter.

5 In the absence of any specific orders as regards interpellations & resolutions, it is presumed that the method proposed in paragraphs

6. Under the existing rules, the selection of representations, interpellations and resolutions even on behalf of the Special Interests has to be done at the meeting of the Deputy Commissioners, [illegible] and selected for the interests have to be sent by the DCs to be incorporated with those selected for the whole district. Though under the Act only the University had the privilege of sending subjects for consideration direct to Govt. now the Special Interests have also got the right to send their representations to the Registrar if they consider that their representations have not received adequate

The Registrar of the Rangoon University wants information on the following points:

"1. Whether the University can send Resolutions and Interpellations direct to the government

2. Whether there is limit should be seen and

3. Whether before Legislature they should be selected by the University Council.

The Registrar writes on G.O. No. 1395-60/RA 6.19.91 R 18.12.49 as his precedent. Under this order the University was authorised to send Representations not exceeding ten after discussion in the University Council.

14. Now that the Assembly is a statutory body the G.O. above referred to does not seem to apply, at any rate, to Resolutions & Interpellations. The Regulation and the Rules framed thereunder ought to apply

- Rules 23, 33, 45 & 47 prescribe the number of Resolutions, Interpellation and Representations respectively, to be sent to Govt by each district. With regard to the special interests and minorities the same rule give discretion to the President to admit their resolutions in addition to the number fixed for each district.

16. Rules 24, 34 & 46 require that the selection should be made at the meetings of the Head Quarters

Though the provision in these Articles representatives of Special interests & minorities should also be present at the Oth meetings suggests that the Resolutions, interpellations & Representations should be discussed at these meetings, the fact that Rule 23, 33, 45 (1) empower the President to omit "Six" resolutions, "in addition to" were sent by the Districts, shows that the special interests & minorities may send their direct to the President. For the districts cannot send more than the number fixed.

2. With regard to the number also the same Considerations show that it is left to the discretion of the president. There is no provision fixing the number.

3. With regard to the Selection by the University Council, though there is no provision laid in the Rules & though the Registrar points out in his letter that the Representatives of the Assembly which must be present at the meetings Academic members of the University Council, yet it seems desirable that the selection should be made by the University Council

2. This is left to the discretion of the President to authorise the University Representatives to lead their Resolutions, Interpellations & Representations duely to the Govt and also to fix their number.

21 It may be added that in avoid the trouble of the President exercising his discretion every year, it is desirable that provision is made by means of a rule to meet the case of special minorities
